Emricci Pizza & Pasta

1814 Main Street W. Locust, North Carolina

Even though the TV airwaves are filled with advertisements by chain restaurants pushing their newest pizza creations, Stanly County residents may be surprised to learn that an award-winning pizza restaurant is just a short drive out N.C. Highway 24-27.

Emr Ricci Pizzeria of Locust, a two-time award winner at the International Pizza Challenge competition in Las Vegas, has brought home honors in 2018 and 2021.

But Dave Emrich, manager of Emricci, notes that the award-winning restaurant offers much more than just great pies.

"In addition to our pizza, we serve a wide range of Italian food," he said, noting that the restaurant's lasagna and baked Emricci dishes are made on site from fresh ingredients, says Emrich. "Everything is prepared in-house, using our own recipes."

The restaurant also offers late-afternoon and evening delivery, online ordering, and take-out, which can be picked up inside or at the curb, in addition to catering services. "We also are able to accommodate groups wishing to hold lunch meetings," added Emrich.

Log Cabin BBQ

2322 US Highway 52 North, Albemarle

Many restaurants have encountered a tough challenge in recent years – that of finding and retaining employees. But that has not been the case at Log Cabin BBQ.

“We’ve had very little turnover here,” said Nekita Brown, a 19-year employee at the restaurant on U.S. Highway 52 North in Albemarle. “Our folks have stayed with us.”

The more than 30-year-old Log Cabin has long taken pride in providing quality food at reasonable prices, and has developed a loyal customer base in the process.

“Our customers make this place,” said Brown. “We appreciate every person that walks in the door.”

All of Log Cabin’s food is prepared fresh and in-house, she added. “We prep everything right here, and we don’t use anything canned or frozen,” Brown noted.

The restaurant offers daily specials, of which the barbecued chicken on Wednesdays seems to be the most popular. Wednesdays are usually one of our busiest days with the chicken special, but Thursdays and Fridays can be pretty busy, too.”

Brown noted that in addition to its barbecue, the restaurant is known for its footlong hot dogs (the Thursday special) and hushpuppies. A new menu item, BBQ chips, is gaining popularity as well, she said.

Customers may eat in, or pick up orders either at the register or at the drive-through in the rear of the building. In addition, Log Cabin provides catering services for businesses and events. “We invite everyone to give us a try,” said Brown.

Handi-Mart

2322 US Highway 52 North, Albemarle, North Carolina

After 43 years in business at what is known as “Burleson Square” in Albemarle and operating a restaurant there for the last 37, Myra Whitley has seen many customers come and go.

Our customers are family,” said Whitley, who added a restaurant to the Handi-Mart convenience store in 1985, and has since built a large and loyal customer base, serving breakfast, lunch and supper six days a week. “I don’t know all the names of all the people who walk in the door,” she said, “but I’ve learned what they want and can tell you what they will order.”

The restaurant is open from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday, with specials offered each day.

Mondays and Thursdays are especially busy days at lunchtime, said Whitley, noting that the restaurant’s specials (meatloaf on Mondays, chicken and dumplings on Thursdays) are especially popular.

“Every day has some busy times,” she added, noting that the restaurant’s “country cooking” recipes were passed down to her by her mother May Burleson and her aunt Louise Mauldin).

“Everything we serve is made from scratch,” said Whitley, “including the desserts.”

Containing various pies, cakes and custards, the Handi-

Mart dessert case carries another family connection, as Whitley’s sister, Gayle Russell, prepares the sweet treats. Chocolate meringue and coconut meringue rank near the top in customer popularity, according to Whitley.

“I just want to thank all our customers over all the years,” Whitley added. “Although some have passed on, their families and friends keep us going.”

Wayside Family Restaurant

606 North Main Street, Oakboro, North Carolina

Whether you drive by Oakboro's Wayside Restaurant in the morning, or evening, you are sure to find customers enjoying the homestyle cooking and friendly service ... and that's true even when the eatery is not the main attraction.

"We do a great business during the monthly cruise-ins," said Lori Gregory, the restaurant manager, who noted the restaurant is a popular gathering place during the annual Oakboro 4th of July Celebration as well.

"Lots of people come here to watch the (4th of July) parade while they eat breakfast," she said.

In addition to daily lunch specials, Wayside's seafood nights on Thursdays and Fridays make those evenings the restaurant's busiest times, but it is the fried chicken that brings many customers back time and time again.

"Our fried chicken seems to be what we are best known for," said Gregory. "Plus, our omelets are a favorite among the breakfast crowd."

"Our fried chicken seems to be what we are best known for."

And in addition to the breakfast, lunch, and supper fare, customers can grab sweet delights in the form of pies, cobblers, ice cream, and milkshakes, either as a dessert or a standalone treat.

The restaurant, on North Main Street in Oakboro, was first part of the regional Burger Shack chain, before becoming Wayside in 1992. Since that time, it has expanded to include two other restaurants in addition to the Oakboro location, one in Stanfield and another in Concord.

Wayside also offers catering, and take-out and drive-up service is available as well.

Off the Square

114 South Second Street, Albemarle, North Carolina

"Low key upscale," is how Billy Smith, chef at Off the Square, describes the style of the downtown Albemarle restaurant.

"We want to bring Charlotte to Albemarle, at Albemarle prices," he adds.

The restaurant, which has been in its 114 South Second Street location since 2012, focuses on "using local ingredients to craft gourmet cuisine from scratch," according to Smith, and offers menu options which are rotated seasonally, as well as local and imported wines, and a large selection of craft beers

"Nightly specials are available," he said, noting that wagyu burgers and steaks, both recent additions to the menu, have proven to be very popular. "And we have a few very popular items that we always keep on the menu."

Among those mainstays are the establishment's shrimp and grits, as well as desserts such as apple cinnamon creme brulee and chocolate and peanut butter pie.

"They (customers) won't let me pull that last one off the menu," Smith laughed.

The restaurant prides itself on customer service and providing an excellent dining experience. "We are here to please," said Smith, "and we encourage our staff to go above and beyond for our customers."

In addition to lunch and dinner, Off the Square serves brunch on weekends, and was recognized for "Best Brunch in Stanly County" in a Stanly News & Press Readers Choice. Brunch

What Makes Stanly Great?

Bob Remsburg
Planning Director
County of Stanly

Stanly County is great primarily because of its people, its lakes and its land. While we don't always agree, we are always there to help each other.

I've lived in Stanly County for 38 years and have always found a certain assurance that if I have a problem, a friend or neighbor will step in to help. That is what really makes a community a great place to live.

Tammi and I have two sons who are now grown. The schools, Boy Scout programs, churches, libraries, parks, sports programs, Stanly Community College and other community groups helped give them a great background to prepare for the realities of life.

I am grateful to all who helped with that process and continue to support the programs and activities that make all our youth grow up ready to become active and involved citizens. One of our Scout units, Troop 202 in Locust, recently took many of its members to Utah and Nevada to visit Grand Canyon, Bryce Canyon and Zion National Parks. The leaders willing to sacrifice their time to give these boys that kind of experience is a good example of our community's commitment to youth.

I recently had the privilege to listen to eight college scholarship recipients speak to the Albemarle Rotary Club. Each of them benefitted by the commitment of this community to help them explore their potential. We heard from future teachers, musicians, veterinarians, and business leaders. Many hope to come back to Stanly County to continue the tradition of giving back to our community. We have a bright future.

We are also blessed with a beautiful place — rolling hills, forests, farms, nice small towns, mountains and lakes. I've had the honor to help promote Stanly County to people from outside our area for many years with the Stanly Convention and Visitors Bureau Board.

Our recreational and cultural amenities including our lakes, mountains, historic sites, rivers and streams and bike routes, plus our entertainment venues like the Agri-Civic Center, City Lake Park, town festivals, town parks and the Stanly County Fairgrounds are easy to promote.

On top of this, we are known to have some great recreational fields that host tournaments. These tournaments bring in visitors from throughout North Carolina and the region. We also have many opportunities to both participate in and enjoy cultural opportunities from groups like The Uwharrie Players, the Talent Company, the Singing Americans, the Stanly County Concert Band, the Stanly County Chorale, and the Community Concerts Association. Our lives are enriched by the experiences these groups and other groups provide.

Our vineyards, wedding and meeting venues, Big Lick Festival Park, Carolina Treetop Challenge and Juneberry Ridge attract many to come to Stanly County for the first time. It is great to hear folks tell us that they have "discovered" Stanly County.

As the Planning Director for the County, I know that we face many challenges with growth of residential subdivisions, commercial development and placement for industries. It has been nice to see the growth in local businesses which are supported by the community. Our difficult goal is to allow this growth to occur in areas with appropriate infrastructure while preserving our farms and scenic byways. Our friendly and helpful people, our lakes and the beauty of our land are what make Stanly County a great place.

Charlotte Maness
President of Stanly County
Concert Association

When I was asked this question, my mind immediately went over a span of time from 1941 until now!

Being the daughter of an itinerant minister means moving to different churches and towns. In 1941, Dad was assigned to come to Albemarle and we lived here through 1948. I could write a book about those years of my life and I have very vivid memories of them. I often think of where I went to school, where we lived, my first teachers and piano teachers, World War II in progress and ending with people in the streets rejoicing.

One big event was that my only sibling, Larry, was born here in 1943 at the old Stanly General Hospital and he was always proud of his birthplace. Fast forward, moving with my family, marrying my wonderful husband, Horace, our life together over a span of years to 1966.

I never expected to live in Stanly County again, my husband had never been here when he was invited to interview at Pfeiffer (then college) University for a faculty position by Dr. J. Lem Stokes, president.

We came for the interview and he accepted a position and we moved to Stanly County almost 20 years since I had moved away as a 10-year-old. We also came with two very young children, moved to Misenheimer and thus began the years until now.

All of this to say we found a home here and it has been home since then. Our children, Jimmy and Jeanina, were raised here, went to Richfield School, NSHS, and Pfeiffer by their own choice. During these years, life changed as it does for us all.

My parents grew older and are now gone. I have to mention that through all those many years, moves to different churches, different states, they both always felt like Stanly County was our home.

Why?

Living here in early times of the mills, the simplicity of life, the great work ethic, community spirit and great lifetime friends who stuck with them, my brother and me and our families.

Moving back here, all these years later, I found lots of differences but found much of the same and was happy to be here.

Many people ask me all time, do you know everybody in Stanly County? I quickly tell them no but lots of them from my early childhood, working for North Carolina Federal, Pfeiffer, Central UMC and the love that my family had for this special place from 1941. As it is everywhere, things have changed in some ways, but we have a great community in Stanly County with many common bonds to keep it special. I love that we find ways to still interact, value the history, yet open to making new history for the future.

This and so much more makes me happy to be here and enjoy being a part of Stanly County.

Sara Hahn, MLIS
Children and Youth Services Librarian
Stanly County Public Library

When it comes to being able to live, work, and raise a family, Stanly County is an excellent choice for business and residency. While taking a stroll downtown through the county seat, families can enjoy caffeinated sips at Glory Beans Coffee Shop, grab some local fresh produce at the Farmer's Market, or enjoy lunch or a scoop at Second Street Sundries. If you'd like a sweet treat that has withstood the test of time, pick up a signature clown cookie at the 100-year-old Albemarle Sweet Shop. While enjoying downtown, take in a bit of history as you pass the historic Opera House or Alameda Movie Theatre and learn facts of the past by touring one of the many rotating exhibits at the History Center or house museums. Drop into the library to browse the latest releases, or enjoy story time before continuing your day enjoying all that our beautiful county has to offer.

If you're looking for some outdoor fun, rent kayaks at Morrow Mountain to explore Lake Tillery or visit the Badin swimming area and boat access to enjoy Stanly County from the water. Head south for a horseback ride at Fork Farm or north for a tour of the Stanly County Airport and a view of our land from the sky. After a long and fulfilling day, turn up the radio and relax under the stars by watching a film at the Badin Road Drive-In, one of the few drive-in movie theaters still operating in the US. With so much to do in Stanly County, there's no need to leave, but when vacation awaits, our central location in the state makes a drive to the Mountains or the Beach possible in only three hours. If you're looking for a place to live and love, Stanly County is easy to adore.

William Huneycutt
Chairman-Elect
Stanly County Chamber of Commerce

Stanly County is a great place to live, work, and play.

I am a lifelong resident of Stanly County, growing up in the Locust area, and now living and working in Albemarle. Our abundant natural resources, beautiful scenery, and kind people are what make living here great. We have lakes, Morrow Mountain State Park, and other local parks that families can enjoy. The beauty encourages our residents to get out, enjoy nature, and love where you live. There are so many opportunities to explore and enjoy the beauty of Stanly County.

Stanly County is also great because of its people. Whether you have lived here your entire life or just moved here, you will be welcomed and treated with kindness. Our community is small enough that you can know your neighbors, your local business owners, and your local leaders. It is also large enough to attract growth, prosperity, and ever-growing economic opportunities for our citizens. We work together to make the place we live better.

That is what community is about, and that is what makes Stanly County great.

a population of just over 63,000, we have every type of art there is, with most of these arts organizations driven by volunteers.

We are blessed with the Stanly Arts Guild, a home for visual artists to showcase their talents, for novices to learn different techniques, and for the consumer to purchase one-of-a-kind art.

The Uwharrie Players grace the stage numerous times per year, bringing to life for us the written word.

The Talent Company allows our youth to explore the many benefits of the theatre by participating in productions by acting or learning the needs of "back of the house." They also provide workshops throughout the year.

The City Youth Ballet

breathes life into the classic ballet of the Nutcracker every other year. This production pairs aspiring dancers with professionals and delights audiences every time.

For those gifted with vocal talents, there are opportunities to participate in the Stanly County Chorale and The Singing Americans.

The Stanly County Concert Band allows adults who enjoyed band in high school and college to continue this passion alongside musicians pursuing music at Pfeiffer University.

The benefit to the public is that these groups provide their performances for free. Since 1947, The Stanly County Concert Association has been bringing the best artists to our community.

Tickets are reasonably priced and allow our music students at Stanly Community College and Pfeiffer University to attend for free.

The one common denominator behind each of these organizations is a team of committed volunteers that ensure that these organizations exist and continue to prosper.

Behind the scenes, Stanly County also has a pool of very talented teachers. Whether vocal coaches, dance instructors, visual art, drama or music teachers, both in the schools and for private lessons, allowing many to pursue their passion after high school with either a successful career or a life-long hobby to enjoy.

Stanly County is a hidden gem for the arts and that makes Stanly County great!
